

The Potential Business Value of SAP Business Network for Your Organization

IDC's research shows how your organization could use SAP Business Network to improve the speed of its partner onboarding process, reduce warehouse and inventory costs, and increase your go-to-market speed. Interviewed SAP Business Network customers benefited from reduced costs related to logistics, inventory, and supplier collaboration, enhanced the efficiency of internal teams, streamlined the onboarding of new suppliers, and achieved business growth. All currency values are in US dollars.

POTENTIAL KEY RESULTS

$14.58 million

average annual benefits

120%

three-year return on investment

30%

faster go-to-market
speed

CUSTOMER QUOTE (PROCUREMENT DIRECTOR, AUTOMOTIVE INDUSTRY):

"We adopted SAP Business Network to address several issues: limited visibility, inefficiencies in manual processes, and difficulties in scaling and onboarding new partners. Additionally, we've seen improvements in our analytics capabilities and overall scalability."

POTENTIAL OPERATIONAL BUSINESS NETWORK BENEFITS

- 33% more efficient supply chain staff, worth $23,030 annually
- 33% more efficient logistics staff, worth $25,772 annually
- $4.12 million in warehouse and logistics costs avoided annually
- 36% faster onboarding new partners, worth $3.14 million annually
- $4.49 million in additional revenue annually
- 42% faster invoicing process, worth $3.79 million annually

CUSTOMER QUOTE (SENIOR PROCUREMENT MANAGER, RETAIL INDUSTRY):

"Previously, we used EDI, which worked well but had limitations. SAP Business Network has increased our visibility and document handling capabilities. It offers more communication channels, including a messaging feature, allowing us to track documents through various stages like approval, ordering, and invoicing. This enhanced visibility and communication have significantly improved our processes."

POTENTIAL DOCUMENTATION PROCESS BENEFITS

- 46% increased usage of electronic POs
- 30% faster document delivery